From the Commodore:

If you haven't noticed our new WVSC signs on Myers Road & below the dam you need to stop the car right now and let someone else drive! Thanks to Steve Kubin, Preston Brammer, Gene Nold, and Kevin Welch we managed to get two signs stamped and approved for placement in El Dorado State Park. Kerry Unrein in Augusta printed the signs and Steve, Preston, Kevin and yours truly installed them twice. You read that right, we installed - one of our signs anyway - twice.

For good reason unbeknownst to any of us, the state decided we needed to move our sign installed on the north side of the road to the south side of the road. We got a friendly call literally 45 minutes after we had just finished filling our post holes with concrete. " Hello, WVSC. You need to move your sign to the other side of the road, thank you, have a nice day."

Being the great sports we are, we didn't bat an eye or ask a single question, we just marched back out in the field, pulled the posts and looked at each other in amazement. Really? State trucks had been zipping by us for two days and never stopped or slowed down to see if we needed some iced tea or a wipe of the brow. Not to mention a question about why we were digging 3' deep holes in the park, by hand...where they obviously didn't want holes.

About now, I can guess what you're thinking. Nope, we did everything by the book: "Post Hole Dig Permit 24C Check-Stamp! Site prep permit R19, Check-

In the end, it's all good. The state dug our second batch of holes twice as deep and twice as crooked as ours... supplied us with three real posts. (4 X 6 X 16') and as a bonus, we made some new friends with ALL of the park management team and their tractor.

So if you noticed, if you've been wondering, "Why didn't Preston & Co. install a double sided sign down by the dam?" That's a great question and the quick answer is: We didn't need a double sided sign on the north side of the road where we got inspected, injected, stamped and approved to place our sign in the first place.

The plan for next year: install two more signs - once. Check.

And there you have it. The sign story in less than 1000 words.

Cheers,
Tedd

WALNUT VALLEY SAILING CLUB "GO FUND ME" ACCOUNT ESTABLISHED FOR PAST SAILORS

Many great sailors have been a part of the Walnut Valley Sailing Club at El Dorado Lake since its beginning in 1937. The club has embraced all types of sailors regardless of their background and experience. Common goals and friendships have lasted years and allowed the club to prosper to its current membership.

Over the last couple of years several sailors have passed but just like any good sailing story, their memories live on. Each member gave a part of themselves to better the club. It might be helping a novice sailor dock, getting the old outboard running again or making coffee for the 'Breakfast Club' on Wednesday mornings. Whatever the task at hand, it was done with the 'get 'er done' attitude that makes WVSC what it is today.

The friendships made over the years usually congregate around the outside benches that overlook the docks and boat ramps and make for some jovial comments from time to time. Sailors talk and share adventures, feelings, tall tales and memories. Looking back, we all can see our beloved sailors sitting on the benches on the docks. It is a memory we cherish. Friends become like family.

We now want to remember our passed sailors through purchasing new benches in their memories.

This summer, as we receive donations, we will purchase new metal benches to be placed on the docks. We will have a dedication ceremony followed by a memory sail in honor of our passed sailors. We appreciate your contribution in memory of a fellow sailor, friend or family member.

Fair Winds and Following Seas,

ANOTHER GOLD STAR WINNER

Charlie Volk submitted this cool photo from "somewhere on a white sandy beach near Clearwater, Florida."

Tip of the hat to all of our fine SAILOR- PILOTS in the club! One can't help but notice those beautiful contrails. Looks like a Boeing 767 and one of those "big guys" from Airbus. Oh and a Gloucester 22 and maybe... a Hunter 25 just off the horizon - on starboard. Nice catch Charlie.

Cheers to these fine WVSC SAILOR - PILOTS in the club:

Tim Miller, Charlie Volk, Chad Johnson, Hector Camacho, John McCabe, Ed Kroupa, Christie Reynolds, Gene Nold, Greg Rinker, and we know there are more. No doubt we missed a few... Cheers to those WVSC sailor - pilots too.

Keep those photos coming. We love hearing, seeing and knowing what everyone's up to at WVSC and beyond.

For a Guitar/Uke army

Members-

We would like to put together a sing-along with an acoustic guitar/uke army leading us. The more, the better. Quantity is more important than quality. Dig out that old guitar/uke and start working on your calluses

Rick Brandorff has volunteered to coordinate. He will create a playlist, with your help, based on your abilities and set a date for the sing-along. So, contact Rick at brandorff@sbcglobal.net and let him know your interest, your abilities and your availability.

Learn one song or learn the whole playlist, but join in. The more the merrier, and the less your mistakes will be noticed. We already have five members who are enthusiastic about this event.

The tentative plan is to have the guitar/uke sing-along follow a social.

Be a Guitar/Uke Hero and volunteer.

NAVIGATION LIGHTS WHEN AT ANCHOR

Lighting at Anchor

When you anchor outside a designated mooring field, you should display an all around white light at the masthead or as high in the boat as practical.

If your boat is large and has a very tall mast, you may wish to display another light closer to the waterline. Boats approaching in the dark may not see a light on a mast sixty or seventy feet in the air when they are close to your boat.

We use a simple garden path light on our stern when we anchor, left in a rod holder or flag socket. It comes on automatically at dusk and is a cheap and easy way to be more visible. There is no specific rule stating you can not display more lights than required, or the nature of any lights beyond the required all around light.

The COLREGS also specify that a round black "daymark" should be displayed in the rigging of any vessel at anchor. Very few small vessels observe this, however it is the correct display for a vessel in an anchorage.

If you tie to a mooring in a marked mooring area you are not required to display anchor lights, but there is no harm in doing so.

The specific rules for a sailboat under sail are in COLREGS Rule 25 and vary slightly with the size of the boat. A sailboat powering is considered a power boat and falls under Rule 23.

- Under 23 feet (7 meters) - side lights and a stern light, possible. If these lights can not be displayed a light must be kept at hand to help avoid a collision. This can be a bright flashlight.
- Over 23 feet - Side lights visible to one nautical mile and stern light visible for two.

*Please check current Kansas regulations to be certain your vessel complies with all applicable boating rules and regulations while on the water. Be safe.

June 12th

Mark your calendar!

Hey, nobody said "YOU" had to do it. But if the idea floats your boat in some strange and semi-sadistic way, get a crew together, get a boat, a coffee pot and maybe a six pack of Red Bull and let's put together a game plan...

Note: the 24 hours on the water event is a sure bet. It's going to happen.

Time to start the training regiment. No written laws, rules or regulations here. We'll be super flexible. Come on out and give it a try. Amos needs some company out there!

Training Tip # 1: Practice staying up through to the end of the ten 0' Clock news tonight. You can do it. No dozing off.. you're in training!

JOKE OF THE MONTH

A sailor brings his boat up to the hoity-toity WVSC Sunday Morning Breakfast Club Dock to have brunch...

whilst looking like he's been out all night trolling for drum. Upon his landing Dockhand Paul ties off the scruffy sailor's lines with the grace of a swan and says in the politest of manner,

"I'm sorry friend, but I can't let you dine here today. This fine dining establishment has a necktie policy, and you're obviously not wearing a neck tie."

"Of course I'm not wearing a tie, I don't have a neck tie," shouted the scruffy sailor. I'm on a Catalina 22 !@#"

"Well my friend" said Dockhand Schye, "Go down below and put on a neck tie please."

"I don't HAVE a neck tie!" shouted the scruffy sailor, this time even louder!

Dockhand Paul, being the gentleman he is... and not wanting to be curt with a fellow sailor, says "Well then my friend - Scruffy Sailor, why don't you just go below and find something - find anything, I don't care, just find something that looks like a neck tie... and that should suffice for today."

After some time, the scruffy sailor comes back up top with a filthy old pair of greasy jumper cables. A pair of cables like you might expect to find at the bottom of Ginger Browns trunk, if there were any cables there at all.

"These crappy old jumper cables are all I could find. They'll have to do!" retorted the scruffy sailor.

Again in the politest of tone, Dockhand Schye quietly replies:

“OK, I’ll let you in with Jumper Cables this time Scruffy Sailor.”

“Just don’t start anything!”

For those of you still here...

I can't control the size of the print in the survey itself, so you'll need to "Look Close" again.

It's fun and you'll feel refreshed & invigorated after you do!
